GREENSBORO TELEGRAM.

VOL. VII. NO. 37. GREENSBORO, N. C., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1900. Price Five Cents

THE ALL-ABSORBING QUESTION:

"WHEN SHALL WE HAVE WATER?"

A Variety of Opinions as to the Best Method of Relieving the Situation—A Growing Sentiment in Favor of Artesian Wells, Furnishing a Pure and Never Failing Supply—An Anxious Citizen's Query.

"In a multitude of council there is great wisdom." If the great abundance of advice offered on the water situation were worth anything, Greensboro would have an inexhaustible supply of the limpid flu d. More opinions have been heard on the best method of relieving the situation than were offered during both the smallpox scares that have visited Greensboro within the past two or three years.

One man will argue that the supply should be augmented by tapping South Buffalo and pumping the water from this stream. Another, realizing that there is no time for delay, favors purchasing a lot of piping and laying it over the ground out to South Buffalo. Still others think the people would perish while this was being done and say there is nothing to do but trust in luck and a kind providence to furnish rain.

In the meantime water is becoming scarcer, and the prospects of rain grow no brighter. The wells in the city are being used, but many of them are becoming exhausted, and on some entire blocks there is not a drop of water. Wells that have not been in use for years are being cleaned out and put in good condition, and additional wells may be bored.

There is a strong and growing sentiment in favor of artesian wells. It is admitted that water from these wells is the best and purest to be found, and the expense of boring the wells in not very great. Apparently the only trouble is as to whether water can be secured in Greensboro by this method. There is a decided difference of opinion on the subject, some contending that the altitude is too great to secure water through artesian wells. Others express confidence that it could be done and point to other places entirely dependent upon artesian wells for water.

The strongest argument in favor of artesian wells is in the purity of the water supplied. Coming from a great depth in the earth, often through strata of gravel, granite and soft-water rock, it is absolutely pure. Nor is there danger of contamination. On the other hand, surface water, however pure it may be, is inconstant danger of being contaminated.

Some one has compared the two systems to the blood vessels in a man's body. Through the veins flows the waste material, which is revitalized and fed to the body through the arteries. The rivers, creeks and other streams carry off the filth and waste matter of the earth, which contaminates, to a greater or less extent, all surface water. Water, when the supply springs from the bowe's of the earth, is free of all this material and is therefore entirely pure.

* * * *

Criticism of the Greensboro Water Supply Company and the Board of Aldermen is still heard, though every one realizes that this does nothing towards relieving the situation. Some are asking why the Aldermen ignored the water committee, after waiting a year for a report and paying an expert $800 for an opinion by which they were not guided. Several gentlemen have been heard to express the opinion that the Aldermen were "bunco'ed" in making the transaction.

One of the wits of the town, when seen today, had a question for which he was anxiously seeking an answer. Said he: "If the city is to pay $87,000 for the 'works,' what will be the value of a water supply?"

We'll All Wait for the Circus.

Fair week will indeed be a lively time. In addition to the exhibits, horse races, the "Midway" and other attractions of the Fair, the week is to close with a circus. Adam Fourepaugh and Sells Brothers' amalgamated shows will exhibit here on Saturday, October 13th.

A New Teacher at G. F. C.

Miss Coffin, of Texas, who will teach in Greensboro Female College, during the coming year has arrived. She is a graduate of Guilford College and Bryn Mawr, and is a very accomplished woman.

CAPTAIN LEE HALL PROMOTED.

A Former Resident of Greensboro Made a Captain for Gallantry in the Philippines.

Capt. Lee Hall, a former resident of Greensboro, and remembered by many people in this city, was recently breveted captain of volunteers for gallant service in the Philippines nearly a year ago. The Lebanon, Pa., Daily Times has the following to say of Capt. Hall's promotion:

"Capt. Jesse Lee Hall, of Texas Ranger fame, now a lieutenant in the 33rd regiment, U. S. Volunteers, serving in the Philippines, has been ordered to San Francisco, California.

"Gen. S. B. M. Young, under the Lawton expeditionary brigade, in the advance north, in November, 1899, makes the following complimentary recommendation in the official report: "Lee Hall, First Lieutenant 33d Infantay, U. S. V., to be breveted captain of Volunteers:

"For gallantry and meritorious services in action at Aringay, Province of Union, Luzon, P. I., November 19th, 1899, where, with great gallantry and good judgment, he led his company forward in the dark, waded the river under a strong fire from a superior and intrenched hostile force, and materially assisted in demoralizing and completely routing the enemy and capturing the works and the town, I recommend that First Lieutenant Lee Hall, 33rd Infranty, U. S. V., be breveted captain of Volunteers.

"At Batagnos, a city of 15,000 inhabitants, Capt. Hall, with 20 Macabebes, held the enemy at bay for three hours until American troops came up. It was Company L, of the 33rd regiment, under Capt. Hall's command, who broke the record attarget practice in San Francisco before they sailed for duty in the Philippines."

Capt. Hall is the father of Miss Jessie Hall, who has just returned to her home in Lebanon, Pa., froma visit to frtends in Greensboro.

TAX ASSESSMENT CASE.

Hearing Begun This Afternoon—A Large Number of Witnesses.

The hearing in the railroad tax assessment case, before ex-Chief Justice Shepherd, standing master in chancery, was begun in the court house this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The object of the hearing is to determine the relation of railroad to other property as to its assessed valuation, the question being raised by the effort of the Corporation Commission to force the railroads of the State to pay taxes on their full valuation.

The first witness examined was Mr. John G. Staples, of Reidsville. Mr. Staples is one of the tax assessors for his township and testified to the effect that property had been sold in Reidsville at and even below its assessed valuation. A large number of other witnesses are to be examined.

The Corporation Commission is represented by Judgs H. G. Connor, of Wilson, and Mr. Charles A. Cooke, of Warrenton. Capt. Charles Price, of Salisbury, is appearing for the Southern Railway.

Mr. Franklin McNeill, a member of the Corporation Commission, is attending the hearing.

An Absent-Minded Policeman.

Winston evidently has an absent-minded police officer. The Sentinel says he arrested a young man the other night for riding a bicycle without a bell, which is in violation of a city ordinance. After making the arrest the officer mounted the wheel and rode it to the mayor's office. Both the policeman and the owner of the wheel were made to pay a fine.

The Chain Argument Admitted.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

Admit that a chain is only as strong as its weakest link. Now would a sensible man throw away the chain, or remove the weak link and replace it with a strong one? Most assuredly he would adopt the latter course. And by the same reasoning the value of a system of waterworks should be gauged." CITIZEN.

A Family of Democrats.

Ex-Sheriff Bennett, of Rockingham county, is in the city. He is one of the staunchest Democrats in the Fifth Congressional District, and in conversation today stated that his family, including himself, sons and grandsons, gave Congressman Kitchin 19 votes two years ago.

BURIAL IN THE GULF

SAD SCENES FOLLOW STORM.

GUARDS WITH RIFLES AT WORK.

In Order That the Danger May be minimized the Mayor Proceeds Vigorously With the Work—Bodies Are Gathered Up, Put on Drays, Loaded Into Tugs, and Dumped Out at Sea—Six Hundred Bodies Were Found in One Pile—The Fearful Work Will Never be Fully Estimated.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Galveston, via Houston, Sept. 11—The dead are being buried at the point of Winchesters. Armed guards patrol the streets and force the burial squads to take up the dead bodies and load them on drays for barges on which they are towed out into the gulf by tugs and dumped into the sea. This manner of burial is imperative, and Mayor Jones gave orders declaring that the living must be protected from pestilence.

Famine and pestilence are the appalling aftermath. Thirty-five thousand persons are exposed to this new and grave danger. There is not a drop of water in Galveston except what is brought from the mainland in boats. There is neither meat, blood, nor vegetables. The city subsists on canned goods that escaped spoiling by the flood.

CORPSES ON THE TIDE.

Houston, Sept. 11—Hundreds of corpses have been found drifting on the tide, and many were buried last night by moonlight without a semblance of prayer or religious ceremony. Owing to the heat and the presence of so many dead bodies armed guards compelled the able bodied to get the corpses out of the way. Some are taken to sea, weighted and sunk in the gulf. Six hundred were found dead in one pile.

The government telegraphed today that 35,000 rations were started to Galveston from the Kansas City army headquarters.

LOOTING GOING ON.

Dallas, Sept. 11—Adjutant General Scharry, who reached Galveston last evening by boat from Houston, today sent a courier to Houston to notify the militia companies of the state that he would call on them for details for service in Galveston. There is information that vandalism and general looting have been begun by the vicious criminal element of Galveston, and it is expected that martial law will be proclaimed in the city.

INJURY TO RICE AND COTTON.

Austin, Sept. 11—Cotton prospects in Texas are serious, the voyages of the hurricane being felt throughout the southern part of the State, and especially in that part of the county adjacent to the coast, where the crops are said to be totally destroyed. A conservative estimate for the whole State puts the loss at 30 to 50 per cent. The rice crop is also badly damaged.

CORRESPONDENCE WITH THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Sept. 10—The following telegrams passed between the White House and Texas today:

"Houston, Texas, Sept 10, 1900.

"William McKinley, President of the United States, Washington, D. C.:

"I have been deputized by the mayor and citizens' committee of Galveston to inform you that the city of Galveston is in ruins and certainly many hundreds, if not thousands, are dead. The tragedy is one of the most frightful in recent times. Help must be given by the State and Union, or the suffering will be appalling. Food, clothing and money will be needed at once. The whole southside of the city for three blocks in from the Gulf is swept clear of every building; the whole wharf-front is a wreck, and but few houses in the city are really habitable. The water supply is cut off and the food stock damaged by salt water. All bridges are washed away and stranded steamers litter the bay. When I left this morning, the search for bodies had begun; corpses were everywhere; the tempest blew 84 miles an hour and then carried the government instruments away; at the same time the waters of the Gulf were over the whole city, having risen twelve feet. The water has not subsided and the survivors are left helpless among the wreckage, cut off from the world except by boat.

"RICHARD SPILLANE."

"Washington, Sept. 10, 1900.

"Hon. J. D. Sayres, Governor of Texas, Austin, Texas:

"The reports of the great calamity which has befallen Galveston and other points on the coast of Texas excite my profound sympathy for the sufferers, as they will stir the hearts of the whole country. Whatever help it is possible to give shall be gladly extended. Have directed the Secretary of War to supply rations and tents upon your request.

"WILLIAM MCKINLEY."

THE STORY OF THE STORM.

The storm began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Previous to that a great storm had been raging in the Gulf and the tide was very high. The wind at first came from the north, and was in direct opposition to the force from the Gulf. While the storm in the Gulf piled the water upon the beach side of the city, the north wind piled the water from the bay into the bay part of the city. About noon it became evident that the city was going to be visited with disaster. Hundreds of residences along the beach front were hurriedly abandoned, the families fleeing to dwellings in higher portions of the city. Every home was opened to the refugees, black or white. The winds were rising constantly and it rained in torrents. The wind was so fierce that the rain cut like a knife.

"By 3 o'clock the waters of the Gulf and bay met, and by dark the entire city was submerged. The flooding of the electric plant and the gas plants left the city in darkness. To go upon the streets was to court death. The wind was then at cyclonic velocity, roofs, cisterns, portions of buildings, telegraph poles and walls were falling, and the noise of the wind and the crashing of the buildings were terrifying in the extreme. The wind and waters rose steadily from dark until 1:45 o'clock, Sunday morning. During all this time the people of Galveston were like rats in traps. The highest portion of the city was four to five feet under water, while in the great majority of cases the streets were submerged to a depth of ten feet. To leave a house was to drown. To remain was to court death in the wreckage.

"Such a night of agony has seldom been equalled. Without apparent reason the waters suddenly began to subside at 1:45 p. m. Within 20 minutes they had gone down two feet and before daylight, the streets were practically free of the flood waters. In the meantime the wind had veered to the southeast.

"Very few if any buildings escaped injury. There is hardly a habitable dry house in the city. When the people who had escaped death went out at daylight to view the work of the tempest and the floods, they saw the most horrible sights imaginable. In the three blocks from Avenue N to Avenue P, in Tremont street, I saw eight bodies Four corpses were in one yard. The whole of the business front for three blocks in from the Gulf was stripped of every vestige of habitation, the dwellings, the great bathing establishments, the Clympia and every structure having been either carried out to sea or its ruins piled in a pyramid far into the town, according to the vagaries of the tempest. Rosenberg school house is a mass of wreckage. The Boys' High School is but an empty shell, crushed and broken. Every church in the city, with possibly two exceptions, is in ruins. At the forts, nearly all the soldiers are reported dead, they having been in temporary quarters which gave them no protection against the tempest or the flood. No report has been received from the Catholic Orphan

PEOPLE TO PRAY FOR RAIN.

UNION PRAYER MEETING CALLED.

Pastors of Greensboro Call on the Christian People of the City to Assemble in West Washington Street Baptist Church This Evening and Ask God for a Shower--An Incident of the Almighty's Answer to a Similar Meeting in Richmond County.

There being no indication of an early ending of the distressing drought, and human power being helpless, the Great Jehovah—He that causeth the drought and giveth rain—is to be called on in the present extremity. Believing that God is ever ready to answer the prayer of the humble and reward the faith of the righteous, several of the ministers of Greensboro have called the people together for the purpose of praying for rain.

The meeting will be held in West Washington Street Baptist church this evening at 8 o'clock, and people of all denominations and beliefs are invited to attend. The following call is issued by four of the city pastors:

CALL FOR A UNION PRAYER MEEEING.

"Many of our people have neve seen a drought so severe as the one now prevailing. The blazing, brassy heavens above us give no promise of rain. This is a condition which man is powerless to change. Jehovah alone can give us relief. May it not be that God means in all this to teach us our helplessness and our entire dependence upon Him? He has given us every assurance in His word that he will bestow tenfold blessing in answer to prayer. Believing that in this, our great extremity, we should cry unto God, we, the undersigned pastors of Greensboro call upon the Christian people of the city to meet at Washington Street church this evening at 8 o'clock to plead with God. Let us come reverently and in faith, as helpless creatures to an Almighty Being, and ask him to give us the rain so sorely needed.

"J. C. ROWE,
Pastor West Market St. Church.
"LIVINGSTON JOHNSON,
Pastor West Wash. St. Church,
"T. E WAGG,
Pastor Centeneay Church,
"C. E. HODGIN,
Pastor Westminster Church.

"Washington Street church is selected because of its central location. The time is so limited that all the pastors could not be seen. We are sure they all would gladly have signed this call if they could have been seen."

* * * *

While a meeting for the purpose of praying for rain is rather out of the ordinary, there is nothing strange or unreasonable in it. The people of drought-stricken communities have of seen their prayer of faith rewarded by ten rain. Christian people everywhere pray for spiritual blessings and there is no reason why they should not ask God for blessings of a temporal nature which may be beyond human power.

Down in Richmond county many years ago the people were called upon to go through the most severe and protracted drought they had ever experienced. The earth was parched and vegetation was burning up; many of the water courses had become completely exhausted, and the people were actually suffering. "Uncle" Johnny Monroe, an old and beloved Scotch Baptist minister, called upon the people to assemble at Springhope church on a certain day and pray for rain.

Many were skeptical, but when the day came a large crowd gathered to hear the devout man pray. The sky was as of brass and not a cloud visible, but when the minister had finished praying he said: "Now I am going to preach, and as I do not care to be disturbed by people going out during the service, I will ask those who have vehicles to go out and arrange them for a shower." The people went out and turned their cushions and brought in their laprobes, and before "Uncle" Johnny had concluded a hard shower of rain was falling.

Ever after, as long as "Uncle" Johnny Monroe lived, he was called on by a grateful people to pray for rain whenever the country was visited by a drought.

PREPARING TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

DEMOCRATIC CLUB ORGANIZATION

Simmons Finds Sentiment For Bryan in Washington—J. A. Giles, of Chatham, Nominated by the Republicans—Senatorial Fight Getting Warm—Walter E. Moore and S. M. Gattis For the Speakership.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, September 11.—The crop and weather report for this State issued by the government today says that for the week ended last night all reports received from correspondents were unfavorable.

State Chairman Simmons has returned from Washington, where he went to see National Chairman Jones is regard to the campaign in this State. The chairman was absent. Mr. Simmons says he found a pretty good feeling about Bryan at Washington among the men he met there, and that the opinion prevails among the Democrats that Bryan will be elected. In fact one Republican, from Maryland, said he was satisfied Bryan would be elected.

Chairman Simmons was asked when the campaign in this State would begin and said in reply: "We are beginning to arrange for speakers. Please call attention again to the fact that Bryan and Stevenson clubs will be organized in the cities and towns on the night of September 14, and in the country September 15. All the organizers of white supremacy clubs should look particularly after this matter."

The Republican Congressional Convention met here yesterday afternoon, pursuant to the call of J. A. Giles, of Chatham county, the chairman, or rather one of the chairmen, as there are two committees Ed. A. Johnson, colored, being the chairman of the other. Giles was nominated for Congress. His faction and the Johnson faction buried the hatchet.

The Populist Congressional Convention met here this afternoon. Otho Wilson was the district chairman but resigned. Hill E. King takes his place. One of the committeemen says Otho will propably get the nomination.

A Republican debater said that the Republicans and Populists would meet together today and have a love-feast. Lowe, Populist, circulated a rumor that his party would nominate J. W. Atwater for Congress and fooled some Republicans with it.

The State charters the Lacy Furniture Manufacturing Company, of Fayettville, capital $12,000, the stockholders being W. L. Rankin, C. A. Rankin and L. C. Wootin.

It is very evident now that it is the Senatorial fight between Simmons and Carr which is going to make the national campaign lively in North Carolina. The fact is, the Senatorial fight is just now beginning.

It is learned that so far the chief aspirants for the speakership of the house are Walter E. Moore, of Jackson, county, and Samuel M. Gattis, of Orange.

The Progressive Farmer names the penitentiary and the Atlantic & North Carolina railway as two things which do not earn any money, and suggests the extension of that railway from Goldsboro to Ridgeway and connect with the Seaboard Air Line, the grading to be done by convict labor.

It is learned that at Falls of Neuse, twelve miles north of here, Sunday a murder was committed. There were colored services at a negro church, and a group of negroes were at a spring nearby when a negro came up, pulled a pistol and shot one of the group three times. After doing this the murderer departed, flourishing his pistol.

Doing the State Good Service.

Newbern Journal.

The Greensboro Telegram is doing good service for the State's interests in its gathering together and publication of a symposium of the opinions of the leading professional men of North Carolina, on the question of having compulsory education in this State.

The Telegram's introduction of the subject is a matter of congratulation, and the more it is discussed the greater the chance of compulsory education becoming a reality in North Carolina.

Let the discussion be kept up and carried to greater lengths.

The case of Welborne against the town of Thomasville for damages for physical injury sustained by imprison ment in the town lock-up on a cold night, resulted in giving him damages for $25. He sued for $1,000.

Go to Mrs. Ward's musicale tomorrow evening. You will have a pleasant time and help a good cause.

AL. FIELD'S MINSTRELS.

In breaking away from the traditions which have long dictated a minstrel first part, Al. G. Field has only given another example of his leadership in all that is original and best in the minstrel world. The first to relieve the opening scene of his performance of all that the eye had so long tired of, he was also the first, when his innovation was copied by others, to improve and expand his departure far beyond powers of rival minstrel organizations. This year he has taken another stride forward in the realms of originality and in consequence, comes to us with a first part setting which for novelty of design and beauty of execution, has never been equaled. Abreast of the times in all things, he has taken for his inspiration the Paris Exposition and in his first part shows us a night in the gay French Capital during the progress of the great carnival. Brilliant lights everywhere throw their rays upon a scene of splendor and bewitching loveliness. The costuming, the scenic effects, the figures upon the stage all blend into an ensemble, exquisite in the extreme. The programme is in keeping with its surroundings. The sweetest of singers, the merriest of jesters, the most entrancing music, all combine to complete the picture. The ideal of an American minstrel first part. Al. G. Field has given us many evidences of his genius in the minstrel world but nothing which so surely stamps him as a past master of his art, than his Parisian First Part.

BRIDEGROOM IN SHIRTWAIST.

FIRST OF THE KIND IN AMERICA.

The Four-Hundred of Camden Who Claim to be as Refined as Any People in America Set Their Approval Upon the Shirt Waist.

Camden, N. J., Dispatch 3rd.

The Four Hundred of this city assert that they are as refined as those of any social circle in the United States, and now that they have placed the seal of approval upon the shirt waist by holding the first American "Shirt Waist Wedding" on record, the citizens of this country may go anywhere in shirt waists without fear.

Miss Annie Jacobs was to be married to the young, dashing and wealthy Morris Blumstein. When he visited her two weeks ago to close arrangements for the ceremony, he was in a shirt waist. He apologized for his attire, pointing by way of excuse to the thermometer.

"Why, I wouldn't care if you wore a shirt waist in church," said Miss Jacobs, and from this remark grew the shirt waist wedding. Miss Jacobs sounded her friends and they all agreed that, as the newspapers had called for a shirt waist pioneer of undoubted blue blood, it was meet that she and her fiance should set the example.

The invitations to the ceremony, which occurred last night, said that all the guests, men and women, should come in shirt waists or stay at home.

The ceremony was in a Philadelphia church. As it was well advertised, a large crowd blocked the streets. They saw the bridegroom enter the building in evening trousers, held up by a black belt. He had on a white shirt, fresh from the laundry, with three diamonds on it and a modest butterfly necktie of ox-blood red.

All the guests were in their shirts, and were not encumbered by any such relics of barbarism as coats or waistcoats. Only a few wore silk suspenders. The prevailing idea was the belt, usually of a dark shade. The shirt waists made a splendid background for a display of the diamonds.

The wedding notices asked the men not to come in colored shirts, and none of them did. The women, however, had shirt waists of every hue. The ushers were nervous.

"I feel as if I had escaped half-dressed from a burning house," said one of them. But they soon forgot the strangeness of their attire in the work of seating 500 persons.

When the strains of the "Lohengrin" Wedding March pealed from the organ, the bride, in shirt waist and veil appeared at the lower end of the aisle leaning upon the arm of her father. Instead of a coat, he wore a white cambric shirt with very large gold studs.

They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and best man, both in white silk shirts.

The only man in the building who wore a coat was the clergyman, Dr. Levy. He had allowed himself to be half persuaded to leave off the coat and appear in a shirt waist, but he could not quite bring himself to the sticking point when the moment arrived.

After the ceremony a long line of coaches, driven by men in their shirt sleeves, started for Camden, where a "shirt waist reception" was held at the house of the bride's parents. The young couple then started on what they called a "shirt waist honeymoon."

The bridegroom will not wear coat or waistcoat unless it grows very much colder.

The innovation has caused a furore in Camden society. Many of the leading society men say that the shirt waist idea is very expensive, as the celluloid shirt front, which is a part of the blue blood's social equipment here, cannot be worn with it. The celluloid shirt front and cuffs can be washed by their owner at no expense to himself but few have had the moral courage to wear them superimposed upon a shirt waist.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MURDERER.

Harry Parsons, an Eleven-Year-Old Boy in Newborn, Dies From Neglect.

Newbern Special 8th to Raleigh Post.

Henry Parsons, a boy 11 years old, died at his mother's home here yesterday of malarial fever. He had been sick two weeks and had no medical treatment whatever, being under the care of the Christian Scientists with Miss Hatchie Harrison in charge. Upon affidavits of the facts Coroner Rhem today called a jury, composed of prominent citizens of the city. The jury called numerous witnesses and had the Christian Scientists called to testify. Upon the evidence the jury found as follows:

"The child was suffering from malarial fever and did not receive medical treatment because he was under the care of Miss Hattie Harrison, a Christian Scientist. We find from the evidence that his death was the result of improper treatment and neglect. We further find from the evidence that the child in all probability would have recovered if he had had proper medical treatment."

The jury was composed of the following gentlemen of intelligence and high standing: J. W. Widdle, foreman; J. J. Baxter, A. E. Hubbard, John Dunn, George Green and Ralph Gray.

The verdict is approved by the public and feeling is very much excited over the matter. A similar case occurred here a year or two ago, which is still fresh in the public mind. The boy died at 1:30 Friday afternoon, and a physician first saw the body late in the day. At the autopsy not a trace of food or liquid was found in the stomach or bowels, and the last remarks heard by a neighbor at the death hour were: "Henry, you are all right; you are not dying."

The matter will be brought before the next session of the grand jury. Indignation is very deep and widespread.

THE ACME OF PERFECTION

IN BOYS' CLOTHING IS THE

"Grindstone Brand"

Which is superior to any other make on the market. The pants are made with double seats and knees: that is, the material from which they are made is doubled in the seat and knees. The manufacturers of the "Grindstone Brand" do not put in lining and call them double seat and knee pants, as manufacturers of some other pants do. The coat is neat and nobby--double-breasted and square cut. These suits are wear resisting and just the thing for strong, growing many boys. They will wear longer, look better and give better service in every respect than any other line of boys' clothing made.

We have these suits in all colors for boys from 4 to 17 years of age. Bring or send your boy to us and have him fitted up for the fall and winter. Each suit has a "Grindstone" button in the lapel of the coat and a good knife in the pocket. These are not sold, but given as a present to the boys.

We handle these goods exclusively in Greensboro, and guarantee every suit sold. Remember this.

TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 11, 1900.

THE SITUATION.

Whatever the present water situation in Greensboro may be productive of, it certainly shows that the city should not proceed a step further in its proposed trade for the plant of the Greensboro Water Supply Company on the present basis. Without any disposition to criticize the Aldermen, it is proper to say that the people demand a more thorough investigation than has been yet made, and which perhaps could not so effectually have been made before the drought showed the inadequacy of the present plant. It is also certain that when the Aldermen showed a willingness to buy the plant they thought they were buying a source of supply that never failed. Their mistake is now apparent. What will they do?

THE GREATEST OF HONORS.

Mr. Robert E. Lee is writing a series of papers for Leslie's Popular Monthly on his father, General Robt. E. Lee. In the last paper he speaks of the beginning of the war and his own enlistment as a private in the Confederate army. The following extract occurs:

I think it worthy of note that the fact of the son of the commanding-general enlisted as a private in his army was not considered to be anything remarkable or unusual, and that neither my mother, family, friends, nor myself conceived of any other course. I do not think it ever occurred to my father to give, or rather get me, a position in the army. I know it never occurred to me, nor did I ever hear at that time or afterwards from anyone that I might have been entitled to better rank because of my father's prominence in Virginia and in the Confederacy.

Commenting upon this, the Norfolk Landmark says that though it is not one of those that see only the bad in the present and the good in the past, it wants to know of any example in late years such as that recounted by Mr. Lee. It says that "we Americans have reached a stage in national growth when commercialism is at the height of its influence, and when the finer feelings of propriety are as a consequence somewhat blunted, is not to be questioned. Was there a single case in the war with Spain to match that recited by Mr. Lee in the paragraph quoted? Was there a single case even distantly resembling it? Did not every "son of his father" or "nephew of his uncle" who enlisted in our army for the campaign against the Spaniards receive an officer's commission, and is it not notorious that in nearly every case the commission was obtained by political influence? Even our own popular ex-Governor General Fitzhugh Lee,—himself a nephew of the great leader of the Army of Northern Virginia, had his son made a staff-officer during the Spanish difficulty."

What the Landmark says is undoubtedly true, and the fact which gives us power over old-world enemies is that we have not so great an accumulation of nephews and sons of favorites as they have and hence not the number of weaklings. The Landmark follows its comment with an excellent encomium upon the old days, in saying that it is well for the people of this day to look upon such examples "as Robert E. Lee, Jr., gives of the highest motives that not merely controlled the best Southerners of his father's time, but were so ingrained in their character as to exclude even the thought of any other motives. Gen. Lee accepted exalted honors in his profession. He knew that, as a soldier, he had earned them by his honest and satisfactory work, and he felt no compunction about receiving them. But he knew that his son had done nothing to entitle him to enter the army as an officer, and therefore a commission was never thought of by anybody in the family, as the son himself says. Still more worthy of note is it, however, that none of the friends of the family suggested that the young man should not be content to begin at the bottom. This shows that the Lees, magnificent specimens of man and womanhood as they were, were accurately typical of the circles in which they moved. It is hard for those who did not see the ante-bellum civilization of the South to appreciate its qualities, but this personal reminiscence of R. E. Lee, Jr., will help them more than whole reams of labored attempt at description." Certainly no greater honor could be obtained by man than that these things should be said of him.

For some time, now and then, the newspapers contain an account of a death in which a patient attended by faith curists, and denied medical treatment, died. Elsewhere is printed an account of a case of this kind at Newberne, which is quite near home. The fancies of modern times are more astounding, considering the difference in the times, than the superstitions of old. There was a good deal of excuse two centuries ago for believing in witchcraft. But what excuse is there today for believing in faith curing, and divine healing? The only excuse is ignorance. People who will scoff at hypnotism, a scientific fact, will with avidity, swallow the pretensions of a long-haired "healer," when the only power whatever that he possesses is primarily akin to that of hypnotism, which they discard.

Our interesting contemporary of Concord, the Daily Standard, in commenting on the statement that 34 per cent. of the white children and 29 per cent. of the colored ones are in attendance upon the public schools, says that "notwithstanding the political cry to the contrary, we believe education is and will ever be more popular and advanced among the Caucasian than any other race."

Does our contemporary think that the Caucasian parents of North Carolina have much to crow over in the statement that 66 per cent. of the State's children are not allowed to take advantage of what little educational facilities that are offered?

A contributor to today's Telegram, writing of impressions received on a late visit to Asheville, notes the fact that Asheville people think well of Greensboro. We are glad he found this sentiment in the mountain city. Greensboro reciprocates it. What we are about to say may look a little like harsh criticism, but if it is incorrect we hope to be taken up on it. Here it is: The only people in the world who do not think enough of Greensboro are those who live here. If this is true, has it any meaning for us?

The Charlotte Observer yesterday morning got out a special Monday edition for the purpose of giving the news of the terrible disaster at Galveston. This paper was the only one in the State that gave its constituency the news yesterday morning. The young men of the Observer force are live boys even when the boss is away, as he happened to be yesterday.

The four hundred, of Camden, N. J., having put their seal of approval on the shirtwaist, as recounted in a clipping elsewhere in this paper, the next question is what four hundred is going to stand sponsor for the demand that some of the sisters are making to be allowed to take shines in barber shops?

Joel Chandler Harris has retired from an editorial position on the Atlanta Constitution which he has held for years, and will devote his time to other work, literary of course. We are glad to hear this. His talents in certain lines are too good to be expended in daily work on a newspaper that hundreds of other men could do as well as he, while he is the only man in the world who can write an "Uncle Remus."

Who has been bathing in Greensboro's reservoir?—Durham Herald.

Nobody, esteemed, nobody. We hain't got no reservoir.

Greensboro folks have become to expect nothing from the weather man.

Licked His Stepdaughter.

Officer Jeffreys was aroused last night by a messenger who wished him to go out to Warnersville, where Sam Johnson, colored, was said to be beating his stepdaugher. When the officer arrived on the scene Samuel had flown, leaving behind a mad spouse and her sobbing daughter. This morning the stern stepfather came up street and submitted his case.

A Visit by Thieves.

Andrew & Sockwell's grocery store, on the corner of South Davie and East Sycamore streets, was entered by thieves last night, but if anything was taken it has not been missed. An open transom over one of the doors afforded means of ingress and egress. In crawling out some boxes were overturned, making a noise which awakened people sleeping above.

The Greenville Reflector says that fourteen thousand dollars was paid out by the bank in one day for new tobacco. The Kinston Free Press notes that tobacco has brought as much as sixty cents on the pound this season.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

Greater and More of It.

Newbern Journal.

The matter of education, greater education and more of it, probably concerns more vitally the newspapers, than any other profession.

Education means more readers for the newspapers, readers who will not merely subscribe and pay for their papers, but demand of the press liberality and freedom of expression.

But aside from this more local view, from a newspaper standpoint, the question of compulsory education is one which deeply concerns every commercial, social and religious interest of the State.

Without thinking, the suggestion of the introduction of compulsion in the matter of education for the youth, is apt to provoke opposition as being an arbitrary law, one against individual freedom.

And yet with constant legislation and making of laws to govern society and trade on every side, why should there not be legislation to prepare the youth of the State, euforce such a preparation, that it may be more ready to enter into society and trade, for there can be no question of the value of education to the youth entering upon the real and serious duties of life.

Compulsory education is not contrary to any rule of American freedom, and where it prevails, and has been tried, it has given greater freedom and strength, obliterating ignorance with its train of evils, and giving a higher and better civilization to the people.

"The bay front from end to end is in ruins. Nothing but piling and the wreck of great warehouses remain. The elevators lost all their super works and their stocks were damaged by water.

"The life-saving station at Fort Point was carried away, the crew being swept across the bay, fourteen miles to Texas City. I saw Captain Haynes yesterday and he told me that his wife and one of his crew were drowned.

"The shore at Texas City contains enough wreckage to rebuild a city. Eight persons who were swept across the bay during the storm were picked up there alive. Five corpses were also picked up. There were three fatilities in Texas City. In addition to the living and the dead which the storm cast up at Texas City, caskets and coffins from one of the cemeteries in Galveston were being fished out of the water there yesterday."

Will Myers, an employe of the Union Copper Mine, fell from an ore bucket, a distance of seventy feet, Saturday afternoon and when picked up at the bottom of a shaft he was a mangled mass of bones and flesh, saye the Salisbury Truth-Index.

ASHEVILLE AS IT IS TODAY.

GREENSBORO AS INDIANAPOLIS.

The Growth of the Place as a Resort Town—Impressions of a Visitor From the Lower Country—Asheville People Think Well of Greensboro—Think the State Fair Ought to be Held Here.

To the Editor of The Telegram:

A few years ago the city of Asheville was famous as a resort town for a few months in the year. The first people to discover the merits of the place as a health resort were the rich cotton planters and and rice growers of South Carolina. This was many years ago, and travel to the famous place was made in covered wagons These planters went to Asheville to spend the months of July and August, where relief was found from the oppressing heat of the coastal plain region of South Carolina. Soon afterward Northern people discovered that Asheville was a good winter resort, and people went there to pass the months of January, February and March. Gradually the season became lengthened out, and with the railroad through it was noticed that the Southern people began coming in earlier in the summer and the Northern people earlier in the winter. One by one Northern people began to buy land and build fine homes for permanent residences. Now rich Southern people find Asheville a good place for an all year round residence. So that at the present time the city maintains a pretty steady population.

The street railway system has recently been consolidated, transfers are given and one can ride from one end of the city to the other for five cents, lines are being extended, parks being established by the street railway company, and thousands ride now where a handful rode five years ago. Asheville's business is chiefly in hotels, boarding houses, sanitariums, livery stables, jewelers, doctors and nurses.

You can see as many fine turnouts in a day there as you can in Washington, D. C.

All are in for pleasure and good health, and sight-seeing.

Labor day was celebrated there last Wednesday. The streets were packed. It was amusing to notice the crowds at the park in the afternoon Thousands of working men were idle for a day and bound to see all to be seen. The sack races, foot races, bicycle races were a feature in one place. The band and the dancing is another near by. A shout from the race track attracted the crowds away from the dance hall, a moment of silence at the race track, and the band starting up at the dance hall and over the crowds would drift to see and hear all that was going on.

To one going from the low country the people of the mountain section appear as almost a distinct race of people. Tall, muscular, with slender frames, but cat like agility, they appear altogether different to the heavy bodied people of the Piedmont and coastal plain region.

All are thin, even the negroes, but they look hard and ready for any test of endurance.

As to the climate of Asheville that seems to be in dispute by so many, I can say that my observation is that it is always cool in the shade. The heat of the streets for some reason is not reflected on the buildings, no matter how close the buildings are to the sunny streets. This is in direct contrast to our section; here the air gets warmed up, place your hand on a building here in the shade, it is warm. Asheville has about twenty hours cool, out of the twenty-four.

The people of Asheville have a good opinion of Greensboro, and freely express the belief that Greensboro is the coming town in the State for wholesale houses and manufacturing. They call it the "Indianapolis" of North Carolina. Speaking of the fair here, they think Greensboro the place to hold the State Fair and think the people of the State should demand that the State Fair be made a permanent feature, for the reason that it would not only make the freight and passenger business more simple, but would save much time in the transfer. T. L. B.

NO RIGHT TO UGLINESS

The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run down invalid. Only 50 cents at C. E Holton's drug store.

Contagious Blood Poison

There is no poison so highly contagious, so deceptive and so destructive. Don't be too sure you are cured because all external signs of the disease have disappeared, and the doctor says you are well. Many persons have been dosed with Mercury and Potash for months or years, and pronounced cured—to realize when too late that the disease was only covered up—driven from the surface to break out again, and to their sorrow and mortification find those nearest and dearest to them have been infected by this loathsome disease, for no other poison is so surely transmitted from parent to child as this. Often a bad case of Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula or severe skin disease, an old sore or ulcer developing in middle life, can be traced to blood poison contracted in early life, for it remains smoldering in the system forever, unless properly treated and driven out in the beginning. S. S. S. is the only antidote for this peculiar virus, the only remedy known that can overcome it and drive it out of the blood, and it does this so thoroughly and effectually that there is never a return of the disease to embarrass or humiliate you afterwards.

Like Begets Like.

The Sin of the Parent.

SSS cures Contagious Blood Poison in any and all stages; contains no mineral to break down your constitution; it is purely vegetable and the only blood purifier known that cleanses the blood and at the same time builds up the general health.

Our little book on contagious blood poison is the most complete and instructive ever issued; it not only tells all about this disease, but also how to cure yourself at home. It is free and should be in the hands of everyone seeking a cure. Send for it.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and oth-aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

Headaches

are Nature's warning. Something is wrong with the digestion. Constipation is present. There are many reasons for this condition, but there is only one absolute, immediate cure—Abbey's Salt. To cure headache effectively the cause must be removed. The system must be cleaned out. The hard, discarded matter in the bowels must be disposed of. ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT does this. It does it mildly and thoroughly. It relieves the pressure of the blood upon the brain. This cures the headache. It keeps the bowels and liver active. This gives good digestion and good blood; and prevents other headaches. The regular use of Abbey's Salt will put you on the road to good health and will keep you there.

If a bottle of Abbey's Salt prevents only one attack of headache, its cost is repaid with interest.

Sold by most druggists, or sent by mail.

The Tulip Craze.

About the middle of the seventeenth century the tulip became known in Germany, and a scientist named Gesner gives the first description of this flower. First only the yellow variety was known, and then other colors were produced by crossing. The Dutch, particularly the citizens of Haarlem, produced the most wonderful varieties of this flower and obtained enormous prices for them.

In 1634 the trade in tulips assumed a peculiar turn. It degenerated into a sort of a game of chance, so that in 1673 the authorities felt called upon to interfere and to issue edicts against extravagance in tulips, as they formerly had against trains and laces. This interference would seem to be justified if one reads that in 1606 a single flower of this sort, called the Viceori, was paid for with two cargoes of wheat, four cargoes of rye, four fat oxen, eight fat hogs, 12 fat sheep, two casks of wine, four barrels of beer, two tons of butter, 1,000 pounds of cheese, a complete bed, a suit of clothing and a silver tankard.

Another bulb, the Semper Augustus, was paid for with 4,600 gold guilders and a coach with a double team of horses. In Haarlem the tulip craze reached its height in the decade from 1630 to 1640, when a price of 12,000 gold guilders (about $9,000 American money) is recorded for a single bulb.

A Joke of Sydney Smith's.

On the occasion of a dinner Sydney Smith was the guest, and when the evening was over the host thanked the wit heartily for the entertainment he had afforded. "I shall not forget you, Mr. Smith," he added. "Thank you. Take care you don't forget yourself tomorrow (it was Saturday) in church," rejoined Smith, whereat the host, Kershaw by name, rather bridled up.

"I hope, sir, I know how to behave myself in church!" "Well," said Smith good temperedly, "if I catch you smiling I will call you by name." "You may," rejoined the visitor. "The thing is absurd. I will give you a donation to the York hospital if it happens."

On the ensuing morning Smith read the prayers reverently, as he always did, then ascended the pulpit, looked around the church and rested his eye on the visitor whose name was Kershaw. That gentleman said afterward that he did not know what possessed him, but so it was he gave a broad smile. Thereupon the preacher was seized with a violent inclination to sneeze, and, applying his handkerchief with suitable action, he sounded "kerker k-ker-shaw" three times over.—From "The Reminiscences of Half a Century," by R. W. Hiley.

Bright's Threat to His Wife.

Two characteristic anecdotes of John Bright are given in Sir Edward Russell's memoirs, which he has published under the title "That Reminds Me—"

Bright was supposed to be a total abstainer, but once when Edward Miall was very nervous at the prospect of having to make an important speech in the house, Bright said:

"Well, Miall, if I were you, I'd for once go and have a pint of champagne."

Mr. Miall did as he was told, and the result may be judged from the narrator's comment that "champagne on an unaccustomed interior is not always a curative or a tonic."

Bright "rarely had any difference with his wife," but occasionally they were not at one about the children. When they came to a point of absolute disagreement, he used to say:

"Now, I tell thee, if thou doesn't do what I wish, I'll go straight to Mr. Gladstone and ask him to make me a knight," to which the answer invariably was:

"Oh, anything rather than that."

The Sleepless Seven.

"There were seven of the 12," said one of the discharged jurors in speaking of the matter next morning, "who didn't want to sleep themselves and wouldn't let the rest of us sleep. Whenever we dropped into a doze, they came around and shook us till we were wide awake again."

"And you had to submit, I suppose, for they constituted the majority?"

"Yes, they were the rousing majority," said the hollow eyed juror, with a pensive attempt to be facetious.—Chicago Tribune.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." WINE OF CARDUI

HEALTHY OLD AGE.

LARUE, BENTON CO. ARK., Aug. 4.

I am 49 years old and have been suffering with Change of Life. I had flooding spells so bad that none thought I could live. My husband got me Wine of Cardui and it saved my life. I am like another person since taking it.

MRS. E. B. TOWNSEND.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

It is the devout wish of nearly all people to live to a ripe old age. None of us want to die young. This universal desire can be realized if care be taken of the health in early and middle life. A little precaution then will add many years to our existence. Death can be kept away a long time. Happy, healthy old age will be the lot of the woman who promptly corrects the ailments which afflict her sex. In youth, Wine of Cardui will take the female child safely over the dividing line between girlhood and womanhood. As a wife she needs it to help her through the trials of pregnancy and childbirth with as little discomfort as possible. At the Change of Life it will help her over the dangerous place that appears in her pathway between 40 and 50. Then will come many years of truly blissful existence. She will grow old slowly and gracefully. To the last she will preserve that charm and beauty which are always characteristic of perfectly healthy grandmothers. It is for women alone to decide whether they will be healthy or sick. The remedy for their sickness is close at hand.

THE WEATHER.

For North Carolina: Fair tonight and Wednesday, variable winds.

Highest temperature for Greensboro for the past twenty-four hours ending eight o'clock this morning 97, lowest 68.

THE CITY'S WHIRL.

A Handful of Interesting Items—Minor Occurrences.

Mr. Frank Boyles has broken up housekeeping.

Mrs. J. D. Burch, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is improving.

A rabid dog was killed in Winston yesterday after it had bitten a number of dogs.

A party of young people will enjoy a dance and supper at the Battle Ground tonight.

The Raleigh trains are not often late, but the noon train from that direction today was off 20 minutes.

The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kennett is quite sick at the home of its parents at Pleasant Garden.

It was necessary to attach an extra car to the Raleigh train today to accommodate the crowd of students returning to the University, Trinity and Raleigh colleges.

Dr. J. E. Wyche returned last night from Beaufort, leaving Mrs. Wyche and their little daughter there, the sea air being especially beneficial to the latter, who was in bad health.

Mr. Lee H. Battle and family will move into the Yates house, on Church street, just vacated by Mr. and Mrs. B. Frank Mebane. Dr. and Mrs. J. T. J. Battle will take rooms with them.

A number of colored firemen were here yesterday evening en route to the meeting of their State Association in Salisbury. They were joined here by the Excelsior Hose Reel Company, of this city.

There will be a "Dime Musicale" at Mrs. Gaston W. Ward's, on Spring Garden street, tomorrow evening. It will be given for the benefit of Spring Garden Street chapel. Some splendid music and charming recitations will be rendered.

A more suitable time for a lawn party than tonight could not have been selected. The ladies of Centenary church hope to meet a large number of their friends on Mrs. Wooters' lawn, on Asheboro street, this evening. Only the best of refreshments will be served.

The police officers were this morning notified to watch out for a young white man by the name of Rierson, wanted at Walnut Cove for criminally assaulting a three year-old child. A message stated that he would arrive on the noon train from Mt. Airy and an officer was at the station to take charge of him, but he failed to appear.

GOODS FROM THREE CONTINENTS

Messrs. Caldcleugh & Bro., the Greensboro fancy china dealers, in opening up their fall goods are displaying fancy ware imported from half a dozen foreign countries.

This firm carries everything from the most trifling Christmas toy to the costliest of chinaware. Their big store—25x200 feet—is packed with goods shipped directly from England, France, Germany, Austria and Japan, and some parts of it are beautiful in the extreme.

Messrs. Caldcleugh have been told by a number of peop'e competent to judge that there stock was the finest of the kind between Washington and New Orleans.

Our Buyers

are at present in New York market. They write us they are securing a good share of the choice things. The will begin to arrive in a few days. During the mean time the small balance of our will be cleaned out at small fractions of real worth. You know we never carry anything over, and in order to accomplish this clean sweep we do not hesitate to cut prices.

ADVERTISING AS CAPITAL.

A successful merchant says that when he first went into business his capital was strictly limited; but as he had observed that the men who advertised had the most trade, he resolved to set aside a part of his money for newspaper publicity. He is confident now that this amount was better placed than if it had been put into stock, and that in the long run it enabled him to invest more in his business than he could otherwise have done. "I would rather give up my display windows than my newspaper advertisements," he says.
